About Wescom Credit Union

Wescom Credit Union was established in 1934, when 13 Pacific Telephone employees pooled their resources of $65 and formed Telephone Employees Credit Union. These employees wanted to create a financial institution that they could trust, one where they had a voice and that would work in a cooperative spirit to help fellow telephone employees obtain hard-to-get loans. In 1996, the Credit Union changed its name to Wescom Credit Union, a name that better reflected the more diverse companies and communities it was serving. Now, 80 years after it was formed, Wescom Credit Union is a premier financial institution with nearly 200,000 members, more than $2.7 billion in assets, and 22 branches throughout five counties in Southern California.
