About Sb1 Federal Credit Union

In 1977, Sb1 Federal Credit Union was originally founded by the employees of the SmithKline Corporation. Over time they have evolved into a full-service, member-oriented financial institution servicing the Philadelphia community, and over one hundred companies across the country. The credit union's philosophy is "To provide quality financial services, diverse products, information, and convenience that exceeds your expectations, while maintaining financial viability. We are aiming higher every day and providing the best "banking experience" possible." At Sb1 there are three Stakeholders – the Members, the Staff, and the Institution itself. Under this strategy, employees are considered a vital part of the health and financial viability of the organization. The credit union strives to make the working environment not only a great experience, but a rewarding one as well.
